

UPCOMING SEMINARS FOR WINTER QUARTER 2017

Wednesday, February 1 at 3:30 pm | Deutz Conference Room, Institute of the Americas, UC San Diego

USMEX Fellow Vicky Ojeda | “Using community based research to inform targeted interventions that support migrant resettlement in Mexico”

Wednesday, February 8 at 3:30 pm | Deutz Conference Room, Institute of the Americas, UC San Diego

USMEX Fellow Emilio de Antunano Villarreal | “Oscar Lewis sees Mexico City: Slums, Squatters, and Imaginary Communities”

Wednesday, February 15 at 3:30 pm | Deutz Conference Room, Institute of the Americas, UC San Diego

USMEX Fellow Alina Mendez | “From the Bracero Program to the Border Industrialization Program: How More Than Two Decades of “Managed” Migration Shaped the U.S.-Mexico Borderlands”

Wednesday, February 22 at 3:30 pm | Deutz Conference Room, Institute of the Americas, UC San Diego

USMEX Fellow Zulia Orozco Reynoso | “Criminal Economy in Tijuana, Baja California, Mexico. Reaches in the Social Space Conformation (2000 – 2010)”

Wednesday, March 1 at 3:30 pm | Room 3106, GPS Robinson Complex, Building 3, UC San Diego

USMEX Fellow Tania Islas Weinstein | “Ni sumisos, ni activistas. Political Art in Contemporary Mexico”

Wednesday, March 8 at 3:30 pm | Deutz Conference Room, Institute of the Americas, UC San Diego

USMEX Fellow Jessica McCurley | “Socio-ecological Correlates of Type 2 Diabetes in a Medically Vulnerable Migrant Community on the U.S.-Mexico Border”

Wednesday, March 15 at 3:30 pm | Deutz Conference Room, Institute of the Americas, UC San Diego

USMEX Fellow Kiri Hagerman | “Diachronic Variation in Regional Figurine Traditions and the Rise of the Teotihuacan State”